Charlemagne

Charlemagne spent most of his 70 years in the saddle leading countless campaigns.

He loved to eat game roasted on a spit, ignoring his doctor's warning that it was bad for his health.

He received a famous gift from Sultan HARUN AR-RASHID (766-809), fifth Caliph of the ~~the~~ ABBASID DYNASTY and master of the Islamic world. He sent an elephant, a luxurious Persian tent, silk robes, perfumes, ointments - and an elaborate clock. It was made of brass "a marvelous mechanical contraption, in which the twelve hours moved according to a water clock, with as many brass little balls, which fell down on the hour and through their fall made a cymbal ring underneath.

There were also 12 horsemen who at the hour stepped out of 12 windows closing the previously open one.
